Queer
Leadership Programme

who am i?

LBTQ Edition.

WE CREATE SPACE

“This programme is essential to equip any leaders and shapers within our community.”

Gurchaten Sandhu, UN-GLOBE President

who am i?

Join us (virtually) as we take you through a unique two-day process of self-exploration.

“Queer people don’t grow up as ourselves,
we grow up playing a version of ourselves that sacrifices authenticity to minimise humiliation and prejudice.

The massive task of our adult lives is to unpick which parts of ourselves are truly us and which parts we’ve created to protect us.”

QUESTIONS YOU MAY BE ASKING YOURSELF...

Am I going in the right direction?

What is holding me back?

Could I be more impactful as a leader?

What do I need on this next stage of my journey?

How do I know if I'm accessing my full potential?

What changes do I need to make?

Am I being my most authentic self?

who am i?

OVERVIEW

who am i?

'Who am I?' is a bespoke programme for LGBTQ+ leaders at every level. Each 'virtual retreat' explores your unique identity through a sequence of experiential and interactive workshops, carefully designed around tried and tested psychological and holistic practices.

This is not a webinar. You are provided with the tools and space you need to start a process of self-discovery. These tools include compassionate self-inquiry, sharing in groups, breathwork, journaling and creative workshops.

These transformative techniques elicit a deeper connection and greater understanding of 'self'.

WHY DO YOU NEED THIS?

Only once you understand why you behave a certain way, can you use that knowledge as fuel to instigate self-control, positive change and personal growth. You'll naturally become a more compassionate, powerful and authentic leader - more intuitive with the decisions you make, and the actions you take.

WHY IS THIS PROGRAMME IMPORTANT?

The pressures we face as a collective are unique.

The varying levels of shame we experienced growing up in a heteronormative society have most likely shaped the way we now view the world, each other and ourselves. Rising rates of mental health conditions, including burnout, within our community suggest that something fundamentally isn't working.

Research indicates that many of the triggers and pressures we're facing in both our personal and professional life are directly related to ongoing internal conflicts regarding our identity.

Without resolving them we can sometimes end up trapped in a repetitive cycle of anxiety, fear or disappointment.

The good news is that you're not alone.

And there is still plenty of time to explore new routes forward.

HOW DO WE HELP?

Tailored conversations that give impactful results.

Our virtual retreats offer you a unique opportunity to connect with others and most importantly, yourself. When we remove the static of daily life for a short period of time, we can more easily tune in to what we really need.

Led by our expert facilitators, we tackle root issues in a safe and private setting. It's not always comfortable work, but it can offer fresh perspectives and the necessary kick-start to making important changes and improvements in life.

The workshops.

The workshop programme will vary slightly based on the team who facilitates. We play with different combinations of creative exercises, self-exploration tools and transformational techniques. These are interspersed with expansive teachings and coaching practices to help individuals gain a better understanding of themselves. We send more detailed information on the specific schedule and workshops being delivered closer to the retreat date.

Developmental coaching and personal growth tools.

The coaching and self-analysis techniques that we use enable participants to go into deeper modes of personal enquiry and development. We tap into undiscovered truths, underlying beliefs and highlight pre-existing coping mechanisms. We then teach the necessary tools to safe-guard valuable resources, such as our creativity, intuition and personal resilience.

Group work and sharing.

No one is forced to share anything they don't want to, or anything at all if they don't feel comfortable. Sharing has a proven benefit to processing experiences and emotions. These breakout and group sessions are intended to allow participants to learn from each other.

Holistic practices.

We guide participants through these sessions, as a way to start slowly connecting the mind and body. It's not a Barry's Bootcamp workout, but more practices that incorporate elements of breathwork, body scanning and mindfulness.

Your safety.

Safety is our main priority. For this reason we ask all participants to complete a pre-retreat assessment, before we can confirm their place on the workshop. These are standard questions, there to protect the safety of everyone involved. This information will only be shared on a 'need to know' basis and will be GDPR compliant. We will also be undertaking other necessary safety measures during and post-retreat.

We would highly recommend individuals with immediate concerns relating to pre-existing mental health conditions, substance misuse and related disorders to seek professional help or advice straight away.

Important information about the virtual programmes.

How many participants are there?

There will be a maximum of fourteen participants on each programme.

Spaces are limited to one participant from each company to retain anonymity.

How are the groups divided?

Studies show that this work is most impactful with groups who have shared similar experiences. For this reason we have different programmes and dates dedicated to specific groups within the community: GBTQ, LGBTQ and TQ+.

How much does it cost?

The standard 2 day virtual programme cost is £550pp. We do also offer self-funding subsidies.

We encourage individuals to seek funding support from their employer if possible - please see end of pack.

What is the date change policy?

We can potentially facilitate a participant date change up to two weeks prior to the original programme start date.

LET'S START A CONVERSATION...

Help lead the way for others.

Our trusted team.

We personally design, organise and facilitate each of our retreats and workshops; partnering internationally with leading industry professionals in each sector. Throughout the duration of the retreat, you'll work in close collaboration with each of the team members in respect of their given workshop. There will be a lead figure present throughout, whose role will alternate as facilitator and supervisor of each workshop. They will not be offering any counselling or diagnoses relating to psychological issues that attendees may be experiencing throughout the retreat. In the case of significant distress, additional or subsequent support will be sign-posted or referred as required. We will send more detailed information on the specific team closer to the retreat date.

We're a non-profit community organisation.

We Create Space is a registered not-for-profit organisation through which we support the wider LGBTQ+ communities with personal development programmes and wellbeing initiatives.

About our approach.

It's important to state that we are not a rehabilitation or intervention centre. Nor are we providing one-on-one medical or psychological advice. We are certainly not providing a 'cure', and this isn't a group therapy session. We are however offering a safe space to get curious, open up and discuss with others, aspects of your life you're finding challenging or simply want to improve. Naturally it is a completely confidential space, where individuals can openly share their feelings and thoughts with the option of anonymity.
